Plagiarism will result in the removal of your application from consideration. This means that if your answers are exactly the same as those of another applicant, both people will be disqualified.

- Scenario 1: As an adult participant you will be responsible for traveling with the students, many who have never traveled outside of their home country before. What would you do if you were traveling with a group of students and a student becomes ill right before you boarded the plane to return home? How would you handle the situation? What would be your plan regarding the other students? How would you communicate with the other adults? (350-500 Words)
- Scenario 2: As an adult participant, you will also be responsible for acting as a cultural bridge between local staff and the students. For example, the schedule is very strict and students and adult mentors are expected to be on time to all sessions and events. One student has been consistently late to all activities, and the local staff has spoken to you about it, stating their frustration. The student has also spoken to you about being frustrated with the strictness of the schedule and doesn't understand why it is so important to be on time for everything. How would you handle this situation? How would you communicate to the local staff as well as the student? In your opinion, what would be the appropriate solution to this problem? (350-500 Words)
- Scenario 3: You are in your host community and you notice that a couple of the students are tired and sleeping and talking in the middle of the presentation. This is happening at almost every meeting. How will you work to motivate the students to reengage and participate in the program? (350-500 Words)
- Scenario 4: As an adult participant, following the exchange, you will provide support to participants as they implement their community projects. This implementation period can last from 6 to 9-months. How will approach this role knowing that a student motivation can wain when not in physical contact? How will you balance this follow-on responsibility, while also managing the responsibilities and time commitments that already exist in your professional and personal life? (350-500 Words)
